Alumni Scholarship

Dear Alumni Association

Thank you from the bottom of my heart for the Riverdale Alumni Association Scholarship. Words cannot really express my great appreciation to you all. It is so gratifying to be rewarded for my work and I'll always cherish the memory of this award.

Your scholarship will be more than helpful in providing financial assistance with my studies in zoology at the University of Toronto. It is my aspiration to be a science writer, and foundations like yours are very much appreciated in helping students pursue their goal.

Again, thank you so very, very much.

Sincerely,
Zoe Cormier

Riverdale Picture Collection Update

The Picture Collection Centennial Project has made great progress this year with an additional thirty-eight beautifully framed pictures being added to the collection, thereby bringing the total in the collection to just under one hundred and fifty.

Thanks to Ian Waldron, the arts will be well represented, using a selection of drama pictures from a cross-section of festival award-winning productions so marvelously directed & produced by Ian and his colleagues over several decades. Well done, Ian!

Our objective is to bring the collection to 200 pictures in time for the May Centennial Celebration in 2007. Hopefully, these pictures will tell the story of Riverdale in the 20th Century.

When pictures are framed and mounted, a plaque identifying the donor is attached to the frame.

If you would like to be part of this project, please send your items with all pertinent information to the school, "Attention Riverdale Picture Restoration

What a great year this has been! Activities have been “non-stop” at Riverdale. Since our last newsletter, many exciting things have occurred. The gyms, pool, courts, and fields have been full from early morning until late evenings with students and coaches continuing the tradition of R.C.I.’s athletic excellence. On May 24th, the 34th Annual Riverdale Awards Banquet was held at Hart House, University of Toronto to celebrate the feats of our athletes. Some of this year’s accomplishments include: city championship in junior boys’ soccer, boys’ cross-country, boys’ “B” tennis, junior girls’ volleyball, and OFSAA winners in swim, girls’ wrestling, and badminton. We are still in the midst of spring sports and there will be many more successes!

Our 5th Annual Honour Reception was held in March to recognize the 300+ students who achieved over 80% average in all their courses during the January exams. A recent grad, King Lui, was invited back to address the honoured students and their families.

Our music programs continue to excel. We had great results in the long-standing Kiwanis Music Festival and our music students provided us with great entertainment at our Spring Chamber Music Night, Spring Concert, and, of course, the ever-famous Massey Hall Music Night. I’m sure these events provide many R.C.I. graduates with vivid memories of our own participation in these events so many years ago.

In addition, many new activities have occurred this year and several old events have been “resurrected”. Approximately 50 students enjoyed two exciting nights of professional live theatre while attending “The Lion King” in December and “Mama Mia” in April. A great time was had by all – myself included! For many students, this was their first visit to the Princess of Wales or Royal Alex Theatre. As well, we had senior biology students attend a special course in New Brunswick on Marine Biology and the grade 10 history students visited Montreal. The drama club is back in action after several years. In May, they produced two shows, “The Left Bank” – a musical farce, and “Liars”, a Canadian drama about alcoholism and addiction. We hope to see many more productions!

After 6 years of hibernation, the Mini-Olympics which started in 1980, is occurring again. In the past, Riverdalians have celebrated the real Olympics by hosting their own competition events. During the week of May 6th, homeforms were divided into “countries” for which they designed their own flag, costumes, and cheers. Before school, at lunch, and after school they competed in various sports and activities. The big finale was held the afternoon of May 9th. Activities included foosball, card games, computer games, paper airplane contests, danceathon, and obstacle races, to name a few. A school wide B.B.Q. preceded the opening ceremonies and lighting of the flame. Awards were presented at the closing ceremonies. Special thanks to John Fallis, Tammy Greeley, Andre Simoneau, and Andrew Gold for their huge efforts to resurrect a great event! Another new venture this year was the creation of a great school newspaper called, “The Riverdale Spectator”. This year’s issues have been full of news of R.C.I. activities and events. Along with our news website, <rcinews.com>, these two modes of communication attempt to keep our students, staff, and parents informed.

As June approaches, we will soon be having our Farewell Assembly to say goodbye and thanks to staff who will be leaving. At this point, we only have two retiring colleagues: CLIVE LEWIS, who has been in the mathematics department for 5 years, and JANE EBERHARD, who has been the assistant head of visual arts for 25 years. Both will be greatly missed by students and staff. We wish them both happiness and good health and offer sincere thanks and appreciation for their contributions to R.C.I. In addition, our vice-principal, DAVID CLARKE retired at the end of January. For seven years, David worked endlessly to serve the needs of Riverdale. He is enjoying a well-deserved retirement. Rob MacKinnon replaced him on February 1st. Rob had been the vice-principal at Lawrence Park C.I. We know he will be a terrific addition to our school.

Thus, a wonderful school year is coming to an end. Students and staff alike have relished the enthusiasm and excitement that we have all experienced. Unfortunately, we do not know what lies ahead for the next school year. Massive budget cuts loom ahead for the Toronto District School Board. At this point, a further $123 million needs to be cut from the budget for the 2002-03 school year. This will be in addition to the $268 million cut from the Toronto Board since 1998. We, in the schools, hope that the Provincial Government will re-examine the new funding model immediately, or we will all see massive changes in September. As well, the TDSB teachers’ contract expires this August. Contract talks will soon begin.

We continue to need and encourage the involvement of alumni members. We are most appreciative of the donations to the alumni scholarship fund. Special thanks to Gord Petch and Irene King for their tireless efforts and their great success this past year. The alumni are busy planning for the 100th anniversary. Each of you is welcome to attend any of the upcoming meetings. Your involvement is vital. Special thanks to Mickey Spillane for all his work – especially for arranging to have the best school alumni photo gallery anywhere! Alumni will enjoy his efforts for decades to come. We hope to see many of you at our next alumni meeting.

Have a great summer.

Outstanding Educator
Alumnus John Borovilos

John Borovilos, Riverdale alumnus, former staff member, distinguished teacher of English and author of three major anthologies of stories and poetry which highlight the Canadian literary mosaic and multiculturalism in Canada is the 2001 recipient of the Ontario Public School Boards' Association "Fred L. Bartlett Award" in recognition of his exceptional contribution to the teaching profession through his leadership skills, inspiring love for literature and motivation of his students to excel.

John has also been honoured with a nomination for the "Prime Minister's Award for Teaching Excellence" and has been the recipient of the "Teacher of the Year Award" in 1996 and the "Scarborough Civic Award for Cultural Achievement" in the field of Canadian literature in 1997. In 1991 he received the "Ontario Council of Teachers of English Award for Dedication and Service".

Following John's retirement from the classroom and his English Headship, he was immediately hired by Pearson Education Canada as its first National English Consultant, charged with research, development, and implementation of new English text materials at the Secondary School Division. Since July of 2000, he has helped research and develop three new textbooks for the new grades 11 and 12 programme in Ontario and Canada.

John has traveled across Ontario, Newfoundland, Alberta, and British Columbia speaking on the need for balance and inclusiveness in our approaches to English literature and language studies in our secondary school programmes. He has also continued to encourage teachers to maintain their idealism even while coping with the ever-increasing demands placed on their profession.

Congratulations and well done, Riverdalian, John Borovilos!

Have you checked out classmates.com lately? Put your name down under your graduation year - it's free - and wait to see how many of your old chums will get in touch with you. If you buy the Classmates Gold Membership you can send a Hi Note to your pals, post a message on the Message Board or join the Chat Line. Most of us aim for a 7:00 pm or a 9:00 pm chat, it's the best time to find someone online. Bob Watson (1963) and Walter Pompeo (1965) have posted some wonderfully nostalgic pictures in the onsite Photo Album. We are hoping to develop our RCI website to become as versatile as classmates.com.

Gabriella Prata '78
Welcome Home

Mezzo-soprano Gabrielle Prata has returned to Toronto after seven years of work and study in New York where she and her husband were raising their two children, daughter Adriana, six years old, and ten year old son Nicholas. There are a few things in the works and hopefully Toronto audiences will see her soon.

Gabrielle made her New York debut as Rosina in National Grand Opera's Il Barbiere di Siviglia which she had previously interpreted for Opera Hamilton, Markham Opera, and Pacific Opera, Victoria.

Gabrielle was a member of the Canadian Opera Company Ensemble where she performed many roles.

Known for her versatility, Gabrielle's concert repertoire ranges from Handel's Messiah to pops concerts. She performed with many leading symphonies: Toronto Symphony, Cincinnati Pops, Ravina Festival, Detroit Symphony, the Rochester Philharmonic, Indianapolis Symphony, the Meadowbrook Festival, Spokane Symphony, Saskatoon Symphony & the Oregon Bach Festival. Gabrielle has also performed internationally on radio and television.

All the very best, Gabrielle, as we look forward to seeing you in the next while!

I am only one of many students fortunate enough to have had John as a high school music teacher.

Because high school was more than half my life ago, I can say with the certainty of retrospect that he had a profound and enduring influence on my life, and I can tell you with the same certainty that I loved and respected him.

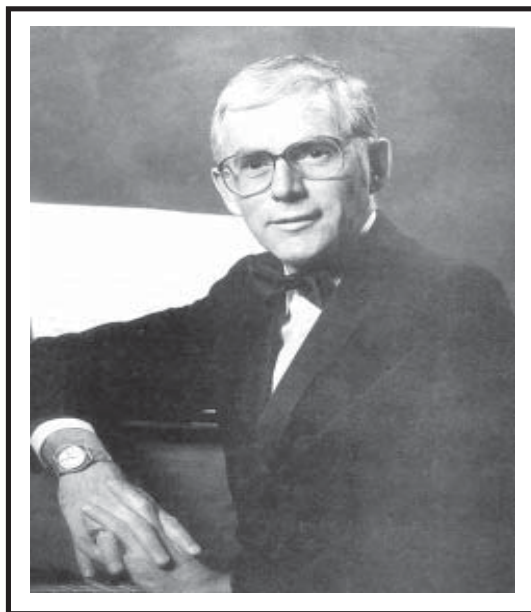

This is new for me, for while I have been before many audiences, it has never been in this capacity. I get to sing what more gifted people have written. This is much more difficult. How does one provide a reflection or a summation of another person's life? It is daunting, especially when that person is such a dynamic over-achiever. He was my teacher and became my mentor and friend.

Many of us here have stories to tell - things we remember about Mr. Ford, as he was known to us then. When I think of John, I think of his intensity, how he engaged his body when he conducted, how he laughed and how he sometimes blew his top. I think of him with a can of coke in his hand when he had a break. We all knew of his addiction to COKE-ACOLA. I remember taking up a choir collection to buy him the old coke machine from the gym office. We lugged it to my house, painted it with treble and bass clefs and put a supply of his favorite beverage in it so he wouldn't have to leave the music room when he was thirsty. We must have thought a lot of him to go to so much trouble.

But what gave him such stature in our eyes, why was he so well respected? I think it is because we trusted him. He had so much belief, such passion and energy for what he was teaching that we accepted it unquestioningly, and he never gave us cause to doubt. Like a parent, he set an example that we could emulate. His commitment and dedication to our joint endeavors changed us and ful though we pretend to be "cool". Having the right role models and teachers to guide us is a recipe for success. John gave so many of us this much needed confidence and so much more, for he believed in the power of music and taught with conviction and honesty to the music he served.

made us better people. For many of us, this meant he also influenced the direction our lives would take. Gord MacLeod, my friend and classmate who was also very close to John wrote this: "John helped me find my "voice"-not just for singing but for living." Gord also mentioned John helping him find the connection to his artistic side, which was stifled by his "adolescent fears". And that is exactly how I feel. High school and adolescence are a very awkward combination. This is a period in which we search for a sense of self, our identity - we are sensitive and lack confidence. We are often fear-

He chose inspired works, he introduced us to many local masters, he brought us victoriously through many Kiwanis festivals and concerts. We worked hard during early morning and after school rehearsals. He worked harder than we did, and his commitment was unflinching. I remember clashing with him a couple of times for missed rehearsals due to sports events or other extracurricular activities. Now I understand why-he cared so much. His belief in us allowed him to raise constantly the level of expectation. We not only rose to the new level, we learned to set higher standards for ourselves.

John's spirit will live on through all of us who have been touched by him. He instilled in me a passion for music - I, in turn, am passing this on to my two children, and I hope that they will pass it on to their children. He was a gift and a blessing to us.

I love to think that John and dear sweet Mary Rezza are enjoying each other's company again. John said in one of our school yearbooks that the most fulfilling aspect of teaching at Riverdale was seeing students arrive in grade 9 as students and leave as friends. John, your many, many friends will miss you.

Thank you,
Gabrielle Prata

Over Half Century Alumni Luncheon

Early this spring at the invitation of Joe Davis, Mick Spillane met with a wonderful group of alumni, who attended RCI some sixty years ago and who have been meeting annually for lunch for many years, to explain the five-fold thrust of the Alumni Association's proposals under consideration and plans underway to celebrate Riverdale's 100 years of service to the community.

This is the same group of Riverdaliens responsible for planting the tree several years ago in front of the school, complete with a plaque honouring the memory of their football coaches from the mid thirties.

One of the thrusts presented involves the restoration of old and the addition of more recent pictures depicting the life of the school during the first hundred years. To date almost one hundred and fifty pictures have been beautifully framed in lovely ebony wood on three and one-half inch acid-free matting contained in dust-free jackets. The collection highlights both Riverdale's athletic prowess as well as many of her achievements in drama and the arts generally.

A second thrust centers around the creation of a book/booklet (the form is still under discussion) presenting the multiple facets of Riverdale life over the years. It is still to be decided whether it will be a booklet included as part of the registration package much like was done for the 75th Anniversary in 1982 or a fully developed book that will be sold separately to generate revenue for the scholarship fund.

A third thrust centers on a sculpture being created by internationally recognized and award winning artist Maryon Kantaroff, '52. The theme of the sculpture will reflect our individual uniqueness while striving to show that in reality we are all connected by our humanness. This art piece will be permanently on display in the school atrium.

Fourth, a planned day of activity at the school followed by an evening gala at a hotel or other venue is in the embryonic phase of development.

And finally, much interest in creating a CD is being expressed.

Does this look familiar?

Football Memories

Joe Davis, '41

In 1936 the Bantams were the first team to win a championship. There was no football in 1937 due to an epidemic of infantile paralysis. In 1938 & '39 we were the junior champs and again in 1939. That year the Seniors lost in the final game. In 1941 the Juniors were again victorious.

WW II had been on for a few years, and myself and others were leaving school to join the services. Six team mates were killed: Jim Davis, John Douglas, John Kavanagh, Harold Kemp, Gord McCauley and John Thomson. Two others ended up in German prisoner of war camps.

Fifty years later George Bird and myself were talking about the old football team and wondering where they all got to and who was still alive.

We decided to see how many we could get in touch with. Over a weekend we were successful in locating nine, who turned up for lunch at the Royal Military Institute. We try to meet in the spring & fall. Believe it or not, we have had as many as twenty-five to one of the luncheons.

Today we are beginning to slow down a bit but hope to be around for Riverdale's one hundredth anniversary. All the best to the organizers and planners.

Will the last one around, please turn out the lights.

Riverdale in the 1920's

"Ted" Rogers, '32

I am now 88 years old, having attended Riverdale from 1927 - 1932 and hardly expect to be around in 2007. That being said, I can remember with great fondness the many activities I enjoyed during my school days - football, hockey, school skits, and participation in many clubs.

Life was good at Riverdale and we were expected to perform in the classroom and on the field.

I taught school at Pape Avenue School for three years and then studied law in 1939, finishing in '42, followed by two years in the Army with service in Europe and later in Canada where I practiced Rehabilitation Law for those returning from the war.

Tuberculosis contracted in Holland during the war costs me a year in the hospital, but later I began the practice of commercial law and did so for the next thirty-five years.

One of my law partners was Norm Smith, a 1947 Riverdale alumnus and an outstanding footballer. As well, my younger brother Bill Selby Rogers (Selby passed away suddenly in March) graduated from RCI four years behind me. He was an excellent scholar and went on to be Professor of French at Trinity College, University of Toronto, and later served as Trinity's Dean of Arts.

He often mentioned the outstanding dedication and generosity of French teacher Alice Wilson who gave up her two spares each week to coach him in his German studies so that he would qualify for an undergraduate scholarship.

Also, my dad taught math at Riverdale from 1911 to 1921 and served under Colonel William C. Mitchell, Riverdale's second Principal. As you can see, Riverdale was a large force in our lives, growing up.

On June 27th, my wife Fern - a Malvern alumna - and I will be celebrating our 60th wedding anniversary. The one thing that I never was able to forgive her for was that she graduated from Malvern, and not Riverdale! And according to Fern, the converse is also true!

Our best wishes are with you as you plan for and organize for Riverdale's 100th Anniversary!

On Feb. 8, 2003, Riverdale will be the host school for the Metro Regional Debating Tournament of the Ontario Student Debating Union. This tournament, featuring the best debaters from several dozen schools in Metro Toronto - public, private, and Catholic - will determine the champion debaters for our region, and also select candidates for the Provincial Championships. Riverdale Alumni are needed to volunteer as judges for the tournament.

No extensive experience is necessary to judge a debating tournament. All that is necessary is an interest in current controversial issues, an ability to listen carefully, and a willingness to suspend one's own views on a given issue. All volunteers will be given thorough instructions on the criteria of judging in the morning before the debating begins.

Registration will start for debaters at 8:30 a.m., and the judges' instruction session will start at approximately 9:00. There will be two rounds of cross-examination debating in the morning on a prepared topic. In the afternoon there will be one round of impromptu Parliamentary style debating. .

If you have any questions, please contact Mr. Bert de Vries, Head of English & Latin. He can be reached at home: 416-923-1329; at school: 416-393-9820 or by email at <bert.devries@sympatico.ca>.

Let's get behind this Riverdale academic project and fill those debating rooms with volunteer alumni, It should be a great day and a lot of fun time!

Thank you for your continued support for this very worthwhile endeavour. Please be encouraged to participate in helping Riverdale students to pursue university studies. All contributions will receive a tax receipt. Please make cheques payable to Riverdale Collegiate Institute Charitable Foundation.

Recently, the RCI Scholarship fund had about $5000-$6000 invested for the annual scholarship. The intention was to offer an outstanding student graduating from Riverdale a scholarship of $1000. to assist in further education. As interest rates declined in the 1990's, there was a shortfall in the fund. The Alumni Association started an intensive fund raising campaign by selling seats in the school auditorium and soliciting donations from the private and public sectors, as well as from RCI grads. This fund has now grown to a balance in excess of $28,000.00. These funds are invested and produce a sufficient return to guarantee the annual $1000. bursary. It is the aim and mission of the Alumni Association to increase this scholarship fund so that more deserving graduates can be assisted with their post-secondary studies. Additional projects are in the works to raise funds with this ultimate purpose in mind.

Please consider the Riverdale Alumni Scholarship Fund in your annual charitable donations.
